FRIENDS BEHIND THE SCENES

Most important in our lives are the moral and social "builders" who have taken part in the school's welfare since its beginning. The people on these pages represent groups which took and are taking a major part in the development of our school and which together make L.T.H.S. different from any other . . . Miss Agnes Graham, faculty member from 1920 to 1940, represents all past teachers . . . Edward F. Worst, outstanding humanitarian and educator, as member and president of our board for many years, personifies those men who have unselfishly served on past Boards of Education . . . Our present teachers are here honored by showing a group who are also alumni: Mr. Flink, Miss Shepherd, Mr. Lindberg, Mr. Snyder, Miss Taylor, (Mrs. Lund not pictured) . . . A typical group of our parents who are vitally interested in us as individuals and as a school (these too are alumni) . . . Our office staff and their efficiency are portrayed in Mrs. Marjorie (Fredrickson) Munro . . . Superintendent for 27 years (until August, 1952), James M. Smith is representative of our past superintendents . . . Marion M. DeSandre is symbolic of present active board members.

DEDICATION TO A FRIEND

Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop (nee Krusa), our Lock sponsor for seven years, began a progressive career teaching in a rural and a city grade school after attending Illinois State Normal University. Upon receiving her degree from Western Illinois State Teachers College, she taught in two other high schools before coming to Lockport in 1944.

Mrs. Shoop's talent and enthusiasm for teaching have found expression in activities ranging from Primary Sunday School to adult night school instruction. As commercial teacher at L.T.H.S. she has contributed more than job training to her students, often aiding them in job placement, thus starting them on successful business careers.

Mrs. Shoop is also a "natural" in homemaking, proof of which has been displayed in the home here where, since her marriage in October, 1950, she has lived with her husband Howard and his family—Bob and Dan, now in Service, and Sally, in the seventh grade.

In September, 1945, Mrs. Shoop was chosen Lock sponsor. Her initiative and ambition in this sponsorship resulted in some of the finest yearbooks published by schools of our size and in thirteen national awards granted the Lock for the years 1946 to 1952.

Our former sponsor appreciates the closer-than-classroom relationship with students which this extra-curricular activity made possible. Although she resigned as sponsor last spring, her interest in the welfare of our school and its annual has been extended to Mrs. Mitzit and this year's staff, to whom she has generously given time and advice.

Therefore, to Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop, who has been truly a friend behind the scenes to so many, for her service to the Lock, we proudly dedicate our annual.

The Lock Staff of 1953.

L. T. H. S. GROWS

Unit One of our new addition was opened for use in January of '53. It contains a spacious library, two large study halls, a boiler room, an electrical distribution center, and receiving and storage facilities. Also included in this project was the remodeling of the old study hall into class rooms.

The beautiful new library seats 174 people and has space for 2,000 books. The study halls together accommodate 240 students, the north study hall seating 150 students and the south one 90.

Unit Two for which excavation already is started will provide added classrooms, space for shops, including agriculture, an auditorium which will seat 1,200 persons, a new cafeteria, a girls' gymnasium, new quarters for the music department, and new administrative offices.

Our four high school years have passed more swiftly than any others in our lives. It seems only yesterday that our class, 190 strong, entered L.T.H.S. We, like this year's freshmen, had that excited yet half-frightened feeling. We, too, felt foolish when we found there is no elevator after we had bought tickets. We, too, received laughter and stares from the whole study hall when we tore through the center aisle after the bell had rung.

As sophomores we were neither fish nor fowl, held office without doing anything, envied the freshmen their innocence and the upperclassmen their command of the entire situation. We studied hard sometimes, had fun, and waited.

When our junior year finally arrived, we were quite amazed that we were still the same people. There was one difference, though. Now instead of always being told what to do, we could do some of the telling. Big events that year were the prom and the selection of class rings. (Were any of the boys still wearing their own rings on graduation night?!!)

Before we knew it we were seniors, the ones who had to set the example and fulfill the duties of leadership. The record which we leave upon graduation has been in the writing for four years; this book furnishes the final chapter.

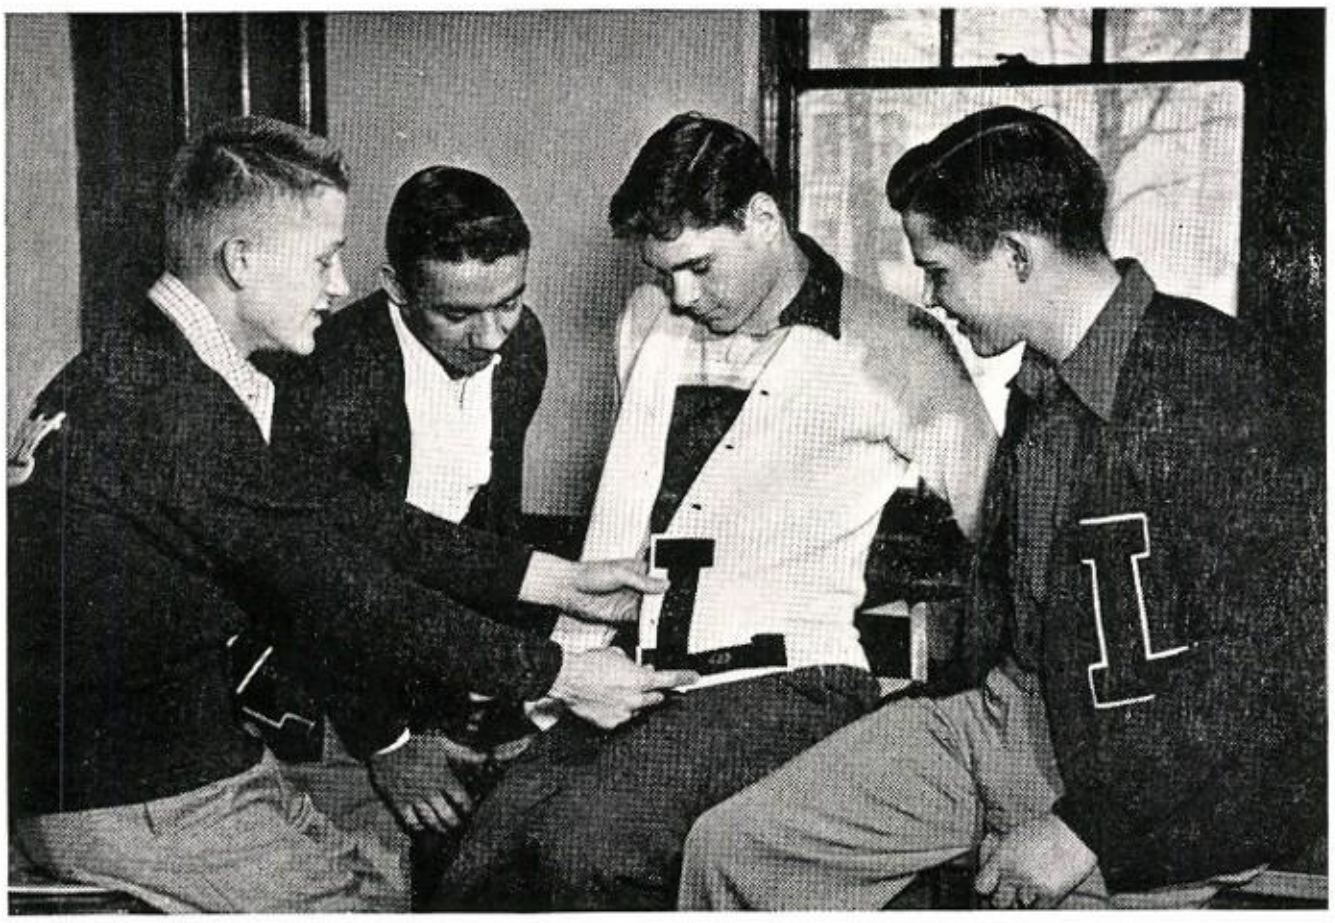
FRIENDS BEHIND THE SCENES

Pausing before the open doors of active citizenship, we high school seniors must stop to ponder what we have thought and done and what we hope and expect to do in the important years-to-come. Our future lives are based on the foundations established in early childhood and strengthened with study and training during young adulthood. This training has brought out many desirable characteristics portrayed in varied degrees in all people at any period of time. Among these qualities which give strength to each individual are dependability, ambition, leadership, service, friendliness, cheerfulness, and a sense of humor. In proportion to the strength of these and other fine qualities which each individual possesses he becomes a friend behind the scenes to all those who feel his influence. As outstanding in these qualities, and perhaps leading in the shaping of the personality and character of the class of 1953, the Lock staff and faculty members chose the eleven seniors pictured here: David Pesavento, Phyllis Winkler, Loretta Genge, Jack Ernst, Richard Gliwa, Charlene Jensen, Vivian Werth, Jacquie Cannon, Marnita Hill, Bob Paddock, and Beryl Strong.



Senior officers: leaders in class, leaders on the field.

RICHARD CRONHOLM, secretary

RICHARD GLIWA, president

DALE VERCELLOTTI, vice-president

WILLIAM ALLISON, treasurer

SENIORS REACH THEIR GOAL

Four years of hard work have been rewarded. Education, poise, memories — what more could one ask? Except maybe a diploma!

Education gained by long hours of study will be used in adult life. Poise acquired through the various organizations, parties, proms, dances, contributes to our ability to get along with our fellow men.

All the memories of the years of high school seem to flash through our minds on graduation night. As we march up to receive our diplomas, all the heartaches, the joys, the fun and the work are relived in our minds, and we know that when we go out into life, we will never forget the wonderful years at L.T.H.S.

JUNIORS INCREASE ACTIVITIES

The juniors came to school in September to begin their third year in L.T.H.S. Full of joy and pride, they now were endowed with the title of upperclassmen. It was a big year for them, with the class play and the Junior-Senior Prom to keep them busy, not to mention the choosing of the class rings and other activities. But busy as this year was, they look forward to the day when they will be seniors.

FOR SOPHOMORES, AN UNFOLDING

The sophomores enter their second year of high school life full of pride because now they "know the ropes".

They have passed the acid test, that freshman year. No longer are they completely looked down upon, but are beginning to belong. The dances, the clubs, the teams become more and more an integral part of their daily lives. It is, in a real sense, the year of waking to new responsibilities.

FRESHMEN COME EXPECTANTLY

They came, they saw, they conquered. This phrase seems to fit the arrival of the freshmen at L.T.H.S. They came maybe a little scared, but thrilled with the idea of belonging to a new life. They saw and viewed with awe the seniors, the teachers that would better prepare them for a long and sometimes bitter struggle, called life. They conquered the hearts of the upperclassmen and the faculty with their shyness, their awkwardness and sometimes their boldness. But these things soon wore off as they became accustomed to the everyday routine. The routine will become somewhat of a grind at times, but they will stick to it, keeping in mind that they are the future leaders of our school, our community, and our country, and never let slip from their sight their goal, an education.

In L. T. H. S. Rooms. . . Among the underclassmen we have two sets of twins: Robert and Margie Konicek, Karen and Frances Staples . . . Boys lunch in the boiler room without women: Larry Troutman, Donald Bengston, Gordon Mather, and Sylvester Fisch . . . "How Now, Brown Cow" is recited in Mr. Aiken's study hall by Carol Voltarel . . . Getting friendly with one of our board members, Carl Munson, are Joan and Carol Alexander . . . Gerry Mance and Nancy Gannaway chat at Open House . . . A group of freshman and sophomore girls enjoy a "gab session" after eating their lunches in the trophy room . . . Learning the basis of science from Mr. Bismarck are Peter Vescovi and Donald Schildgren . . . Future draftsmen and architects work hard in mechanical drawing class. They are: George Smith, James Blazekovich, Edward Zanelli, William Weems.

Painful though the process may be, we students at L.T.H.S. do learn. In future reminiscing some things about each class will stand out most vividly in our minds. The smells from the chemistry laboratory were simply "out of this world" (don't we wish!), but didn't we have fun creating them! Then there was that horrible sinking feeling that came when we realized that one error in typing had prevented us from getting the coveted C.T.

Our pride in a truly original work produced in art, the beautiful article made in wood shop, or the dress or cookies we made ourselves was a lasting thing. Those horrible aches the day after calisthenics in gym will probably be the most painful memory.

Chorus members will always remember that gnawing feeling in the stomach at 12:30 as they tried desperately to sing sweetly for the maestro. For seniors who are members of the band, the Atlantic City trip will stand out as one of the greatest experiences of their high school careers.

None of these things could have been done without the guidance and help of the teachers. For most of them their fondest memories must be of working with cooperative students and trying to pass some of their hard-earned knowledge on to us.

OUR SUPERINTENDENT SPEAKS

"We Americans feel that a good education is one which enables us to live purposefully and effectively in a democratic society.

"For this reason we consider the American Public School the greatest treasure and chief hope of our nation. The school is the instrumentality through which society fulfills its obligation to care for its children, for all of its children, whether they are rich or poor, young or old, normal or sub-normal, physically strong or physically weak, leaders or followers.

"Schools are not maintained for the parents, for the teachers, or for the politicians, or for any private interest whatever, but solely for the children and for society of which these children form so vital a part.

"It is the task of all members of the educational team—classroom teachers, parents, business men, laborers, civic leaders, religious leaders, pupils, superintendents, and citizens in all walks of life—to fashion the public schools into an ever greater force for human enlightenment and progress."

Louis F. Bottino

Our Superintendent, Louis F. Bottino, attended the Gardner-South Wilmington Public Schools, Beloit College, and Columbia University. At Beloit he became a member of Phi Kappa Psi National Social Fraternity, was a three letter winner in football and basketball and twice named on "All Conference" teams in basketball. At Columbia he earned his Master's degree in school administration. Mr. Bottino holds the highest teaching certificate issued in Illinois, the Life Supervisory Certificate.

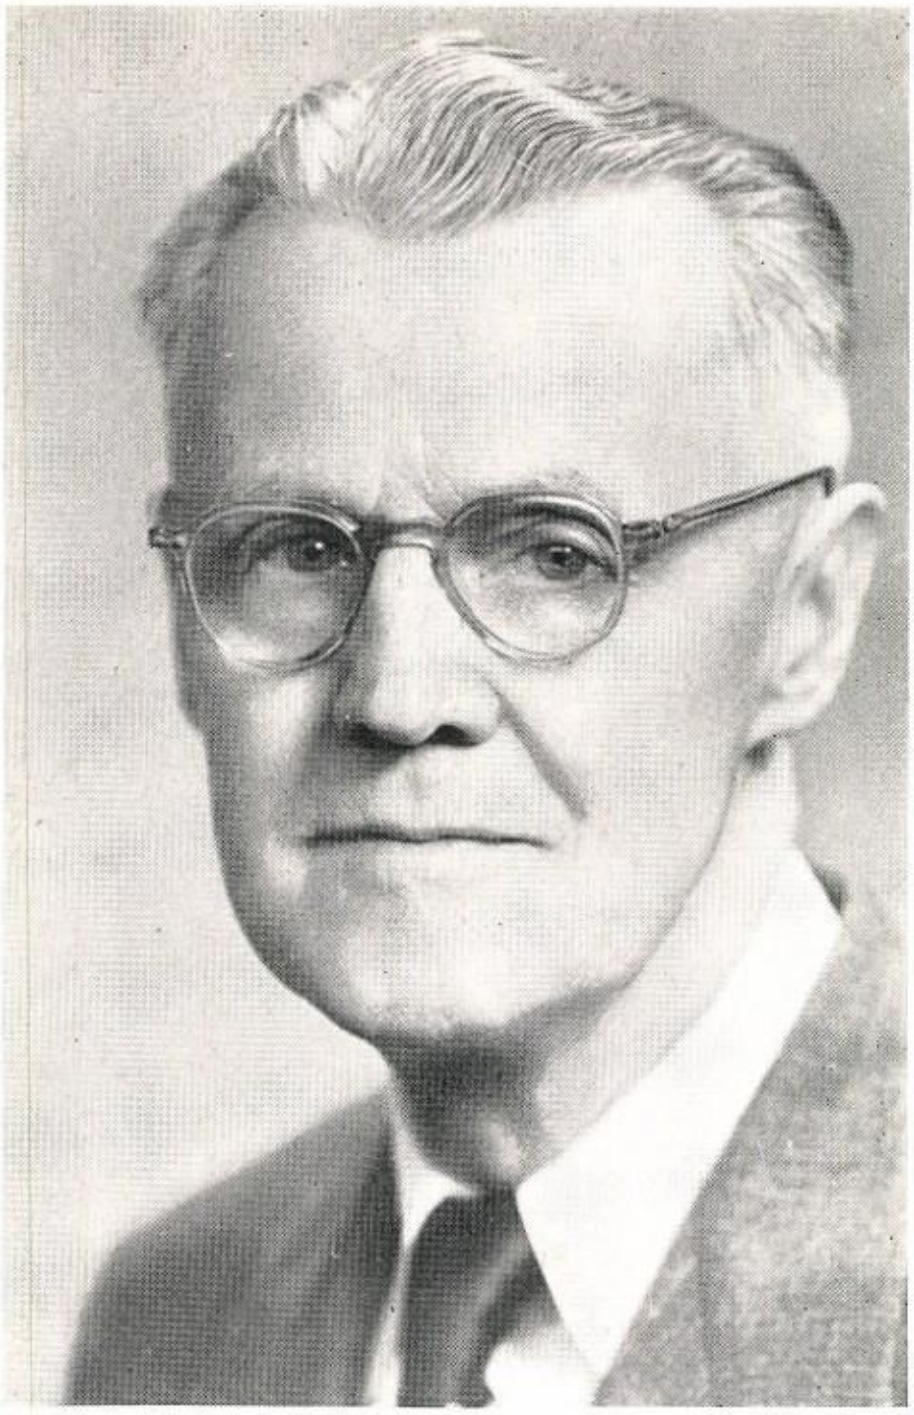
For nine years Mr. Bottino was principal, coach, and teacher at Reed-Custer Township High School in Braidwood. He was then elected Superintendent of Schools for Will County, where he served for 13 years. Also he spent 37 months of this time in Service with the Marine Corps, where he rose from private to first lieutenant. He has been our superintendent since August, 1952.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Secretary John D. Lynch, President Marion DeSandre, Dr. Emil Viskocil, Superintendent Louis F. Bottino, Joseph Bolattino, Carl Munson, and Earl Jensen meet in the new library.

Mr. Bottino speaks to a group of the faculty.

Below: Our secretaries — Mrs. Ester N. Geddes, Miss Naomi Glasscock, and Miss Dorothy J. Kure — receive instruction on their duties from Mr. Bottino.

. . . LINKS EDUCATIONAL TEAMS



CLINTON O. BISMARCK

Carrol College; B.A., Northwestern University; Chicago University; Milwaukee State Normal University; biology, general science, freshman home room and sponsor, detention.

MR. BISMARCK

For thirty-one years L.T.H.S. has had the privilege of working with Clinton O. Bismarck. During these years Mr. Bismarck has earned our admiration and respect for his spritely personality, his bouyant energy, his knowledge of and love for his work, science, and, most of all, his interest in and kindness to people.

We will always remember the tales he told, pixie-like things he did, and the absent-minded professor stories we've heard about him—well, maybe some are true.

Mr. Bismarck has taught here while the school grew to fill three additions. Among his rewards for these years of service — and proof of his fineness of mind and character—are the many students now working in science who return to visit him.

Three pictures already familiar to all of us: Mr. Bismarck walking to school with his brief case—he really covers the ground.

Detention—who thinks HE enjoyed it?

OUR DEAN

Our dean, Edward Flink, has been an outstanding influence on our high school lives. He has guided many students in choosing the vocation for which they are best suited and is constantly working to improve the moral standards and character of L.T.H.S. students.

Mr. Flink also teaches civics and economics and coaches varsity baseball. Another of his duties is to take care of students who become ill during the day. For the past few years he has directed the Dellwood Park Clean-up Program which illustrates his helpfulness to all.

EDWARD FLINK

HISTORY AND SOCIAL STUDIES

Dried up relics of museums almost come to life, and Egyptian mummies are transformed into pharaohs for sophomores in world history. They learn that B.C. pertains to a real era and real people who did not differ greatly from us. Juniors learn about democracy's growth in the United States from pre-revolutionary times. Seniors study government in civics and use of money in economics.

Through television upperclassmen were eyewitnesses to President Eisenhower's inauguration.

LEO PRYOR
B.A. and M.S., Western Illinois State College; general science, physics, chemistry, sophomore home room and sponsor, business manager of athletic department, Student Council-assistant.

Chemistry students say it was cooking class, but everyone "nose" that it was chemistry. Whether it be chemistry, physics, biology, or general science, these people are preparing for a world where science is growing in importance.

All freshmen take algebra. Many like this taste well enough to take plane geometry, trigonometry, advanced algebra, or solid geometry—subjects which teach a student to think—a very valuable experience.

MISS ELEANOR A. URBAN
B.A., Mount Mary College; Northwestern University; U. of Illinois; College of St. Francis; English II, speech, freshman home room and sponsor, dramatics coach.

WE SPEAK

Our power to convey an idea is an invaluable asset, whether it is spoken or written. Spoken speech receives special care in the speech class designed for that purpose. Also, our general knowledge is improved through the study of Latin and Spanish. Equally as precious is our store of information in our brand new library.

Delores Jones, winner of the Will County American Legion Oratorical Contest for two years, looks over notes for her speech. Delores also placed first in a national essay contest on the subject, "What the Bill of Rights Means to Me" which was sponsored by the Joliet Real Estate Board.

David Pesavento, (try and find him) is shown aboard the "A. M. Thompson" on which he won a round trip from Alton, Ill., to St. Paul, Minn., as third place winner in the local Propellor Club Essay Contest for 1952.

JOHN L. HOGAN
B.S. and M.S., Bradley University; auto mechanics, sophomore home room and sponsor.

Every boy or girl at one time or another gives some thought to his future, each wondering what he or she might be after school years. He knows that whatever he may choose to be, he will have to prepare himself for that particular occupation. This is where our school steps in. Here one may choose whatever shop course he thinks will help him most. At the present time, there are six different shop courses; in the future there will be a still greater variety.

Each shop is prepared to give the utmost in experience and knowledge. Every shop is equipped with the most modern machinery and tools which may be used by the students. In shops, a small fee is charged at the beginning of the year to cover the cost of materials used.

Work completed in most shops is graded by the point system. If the completed project is neat, correct as to form and according to the blue-print, a perfect score is given in points. In other words, the better the job, the more points, leading to a better grade on one's report card.

Let us now tell you how each shop works and educates its students.

Under the direction of Mr. Hogan, the boys in auto shop are taught the fundamentals of the American automobile. Here the boys spend three of the five school days reading about the auto and its parts. The other two days they spend their time in the shop. This may be dirty, but the boys really enjoy working around cars and motors.

Mr. Hill is the head of the woodshop. Here the boys are taught the fundamentals of woodworking. They are taught how to use every tool correctly, and how to repair it if it becomes damaged or broken. After half a year of shop work, every boy is given the right to construct anything he wishes. Maybe you have seen some of the fine work accomplished by these boys.

The boys in electric shop are under the tutorship of Mr. Young. They are taught many useful skills, including the installation of lights, switches, and fuse boxes. Each boy starts out with a simple project and works his way toward the hardest. There is an advanced class of electrically-minded boys who do various jobs in the shop and in the school proper.

The course in metalshop may be hard to understand but Mr. Cherry, the instructor, makes things seem easy. Various tools and little machines are produced by the boys with the use of precision tools. This is a privileged class in which to work, for thousands of dollars are invested in machinery and tools, thus making one feel as though he were in a large firm. The boys really turn out some marvelous items which reveal their knowledge in the metal industry.

Under the supervision of Mr. Sterling, our future engineers and draftsmen are educated. Various plans and prints are drawn up by the boys in mechanical drawing. Here as in all shops, the boys start out on the simple plans and work their way up to the most complicated. They may sit on a stool for an hour and a half, but it really pays off in later life, for an engineer's occupation is the third highest paid job in the United States.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

In art courses students learn to express themselves through creative work in art and craft materials.

Art I covers basic composition and skills. These are used in representing form, for imaginative composition, and in making posters. Students in Art II, III, and IV work also with oil paints, silk-screen, and air brush. Craft people, after studying design, work with textile paint, leather, ceramics, and metal.

Some students are preparing for one of the many careers in art; others study to enrich their lives. A field trip to the Art Institute of Chicago on February 25 proved a rich experience for many students.

HOME ECONOMICS

"Hm! What's cooking?" Why, it's something the foods class "whipped up". Yes, these girls learn to prepare appetizing and well-balanced meals along with such delicacies as cakes and cookies. They also spend much time in learning from the textbook many facts about nutrition and ways of preserving vitamins when cooking.

Family living students learn about the care of the home and duties of a future homemaker and mother, while personal grooming students study proper make-up and clothes for the individual and personality development.

In clothing classes students learn the fundamentals of sewing, good grooming, clothing selection, and care of clothes. Class projects vary from the making of blouses to dresses and suits.

In home planning, girls learn flower arrangement, the planning and care of a home, and the purchase of household items and furnishings. The class took a field trip to the Chicago Art Institute to see the Thorn miniature rooms of furniture of different periods and also visited the Merchandise Mart.

Mrs. Ann Anderson, Mrs. Euphemia Woock, and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson are busy at work preparing for the noon hour rush.

CAFETERIA

The 12:15 bell brings over 270 students and teachers rushing down to the cafeteria to eat the hearty meals prepared by the cafeteria women and sponsored by Mrs. Marion K. Morrison.

Edward G. Hill and John L. Hogan are always on hand to see that order is kept in the lines and everything runs smoothly.

The prices for these wonderful hot meals have not been increased despite the high cost of living today.

The cafeteria women also do extra work for us by preparing lunches for our teams when they play games away from home and for the junior-senior picnic.

Nancy Mikus and Carol Kijowski wait for help as Mrs. Cruse assists Barbara Lombardo. Alice Spangler, Carol Burch, Nancy Weininger, Earline Dent, and Belva Robinson take great care insetting the table.

Patsy Jones, Antoinette Ragusa, Cecilia Miller, and Lois Peterson operate the mimeograph machine.

Mrs. Rose gives dictation to Nancy Jacobson, Patsy Hornbuckle, Naida Gray, Carol Gotts, Tedra Fox, Marilyn DeAngelis, Sally Brisbin, Rosemary Blechschmidt, and Charlyne Blaesing.

Marge Keca and Bill Peacock type as Carol Petleski, Gay Suiter, and Ruth Stanley look at the Christmas cards done by typing students.

In the commercial department of L.T.H.S., students advance well along the way toward business careers. Student typists, by acting the part of an employee, receive simulated, on-the-job practice, producing typing commonly done in many different departments so as to develop basic typing skills. Emphasis is placed on quality and quantity production throughout the course.

Shorthand students learn shorthand theory, then concentrate on building speed in taking dictation and transcribing mailable letters.

Secretarial practice gives over-all experience similar to that of the office worker on the job. It also offers assistance in developing a pleasing personality needed at work and in everyday life. In business training students are given an intelligent economic understanding of the business world.

Bookkeeping, commercial law, and commercial arithmetic help to round out a well balanced business department.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To develop not only sound minds but also strong, healthy bodies was the aim of our school program this year at L.T.H.S. The physical education department played an extremely prominent role in the important task of developing students into healthy, happy boys and girls.

One of the most valuable activities of this department is its swimming program. Every boy and girl at L.T.H.S. has the wonderful opportunity to master the basic skills of swimming and diving under the excellent instruction of our physical education teachers.

Any extra vim, vigor, or vitality could easily be applied in a beneficial manner while doing calisthenics or tumbling in gym classes. The boys and girls developed and matched their skills in relay races, basketball, basket shooting, and volleyball and at the same time acquired the high ideals of fair play and cooperation so definitely necessary for living right in this world of today.

MUSIC...

The music department provides an outlet for musical interests of L.T.-H.S. students and also entertainment for the entire student body. It is hoped that though a student may not develop into an accomplished musician, he might at least learn to appreciate and understand the music he hears.

Both the band and chorus elect officers each year and the band also has a board of control. It is made up of the officers plus the section leaders and takes care of discipline and planning and preparing the band parties, banquet, etc.

COLOR GUARD: M. Hill, G. Mance, P. Winkler, J. McCaghren.

BAND OFFICERS: D. Tynor (sophomore representative), L. Munch (vice-president), S. Vaught (freshman representative), J. Majetich (president), K. Waldvogel (junior representative).

QUINTET: K. Clapper, A. DeSandre, M. Hill, A. Hodgdon, P. Winkler, J. Stephenson (at piano).

SEXTET: K. Waldvogel, P. Hornbuckle, J. Zolecki, N. Jacobson, J. Luciatti, V. Snyder.

BAND AND CHORUS ARE CORE

"Music, maestro, please!" What a tremendous response our 220 musicians can give to this command has been proved again and again during the year. Members of our music department, appearing as a whole or in smaller groups, help provide the variety that is the spice of school life.

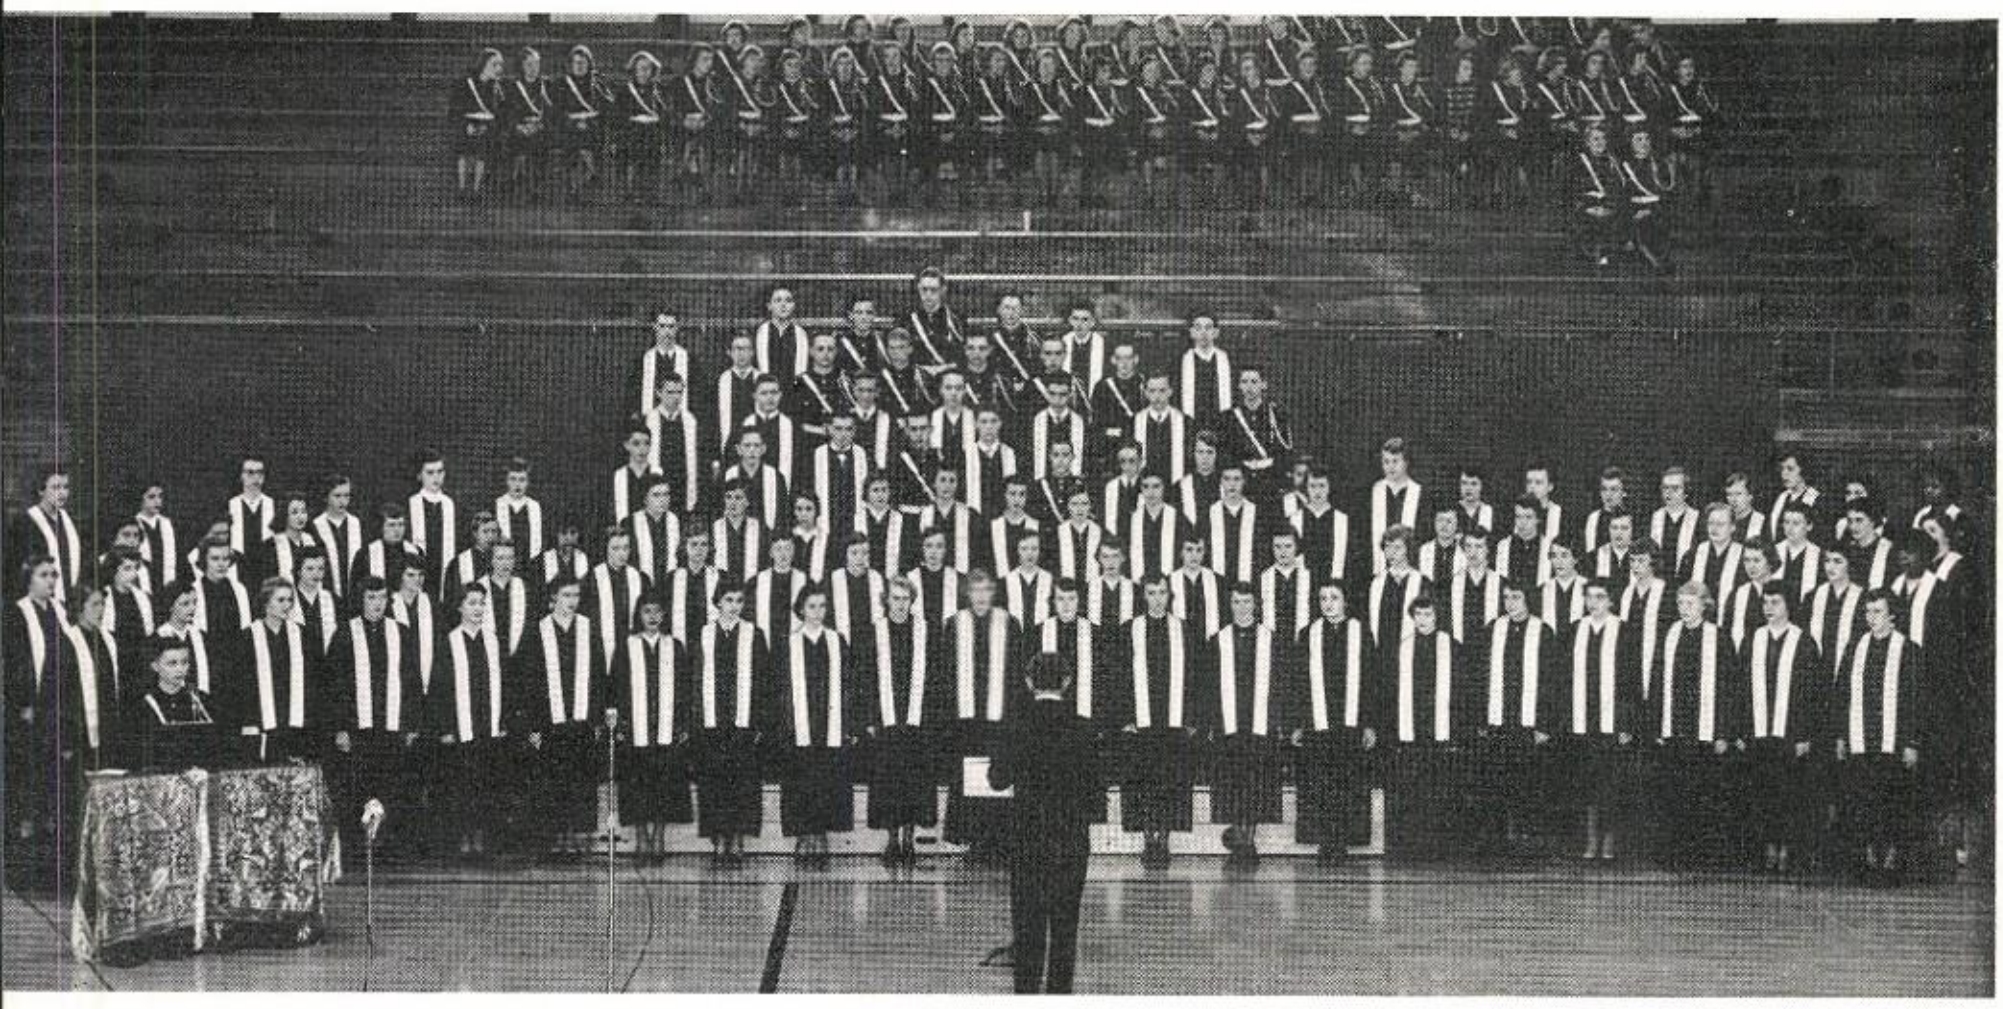
During the summer months the band added the Harvard Milk Festival traveling trophy to its large collection of awards by winning this contest for the third consecutive year. It also received first place in the LaSalle Centennial parade.

Rain or shine the band may be counted on to turn out for its performances at numerous civic and school affairs. It adds sparkle and pep to football games through the presentation of half-time shows. These include interesting formations with appropriate music and ending with the band forming an LH and playing the "Lockport Loyalty". It also provides music when the basketball games are at a stand still. A new feature this year was the presentation of the flag by the color guard just before the beginning of the second game.

The orchestra, composed of a picked group of band members, played at the junior and senior plays, Open House, and functions of various other organizations. Its members receive added pleasure from playing a larger variety of songs in a small group.

Besides entertaining in the musical field, the band also sponsored an informal all-school dance this year for the first time. The gym was turned truly into a "Winter Wonderland" through the use of a large Christmas tree, wreathes of pine boughs, plenty of red and green crepe paper, and a little mistletoe here and there. The musicians enjoyed letting someone else provide the music for a change and engaged Roy Gordon's orchestra to play for the event.

One of the biggest events of the year for the band was the band banquet on March 7th at which the musicians enjoyed a memorable evening with their parents and guests. Tables were gaily decorated with dainty nut-cups trimmed with green shamrocks. Over 250 people ate a delicious turkey dinner and then sat back to hear a very interesting speech by Dr. Gayle Hufford, superintendent of Joliet Elementary Schools.



OF MUSIC ACTIVITIES

Our band and chorus together gave a very impressive Armistice Day program held at L.T.-H.S. The two groups also joined in presenting the annual concert on March 1. One of the largest crowds ever present attended this concert of light and serious music.

The chorus, though it meets for only about 20 minutes a day, has given some outstanding programs during the year. It added to the Yuletide spirit by presenting a program of Christmas songs just before this welcomed holiday. It also joined with the history department in the presentation of a program on the life of Abraham Lincoln.

A smaller group of chorus members called the Madrigals sang at several programs outside of school. There are also three still even smaller groups—a girls' sextet and quintet and a boys' quartet—which sing for school and outside programs. These smaller groups provide enjoyment and companionship less possible in the larger group.

Though both band and chorus require a large amount of work and sacrifice of time, those who participate in them feel the return far out weighs this expenditure. Besides the companionship one receives from working with others, he receives a knowledge and more important, an appreciation of music, an international language.

WE LEARN BY SEEING

The movie projection crew—Frank Sternisha, Don McCarthy, and Don Malinoski—under the instruction and supervision of Orris S. Young, were to all students truly friends behind the scenes. As well as receiving knowledge that could not have been so efficiently given in any other way, students really enjoyed the films on speech, typing, science, history, and English.

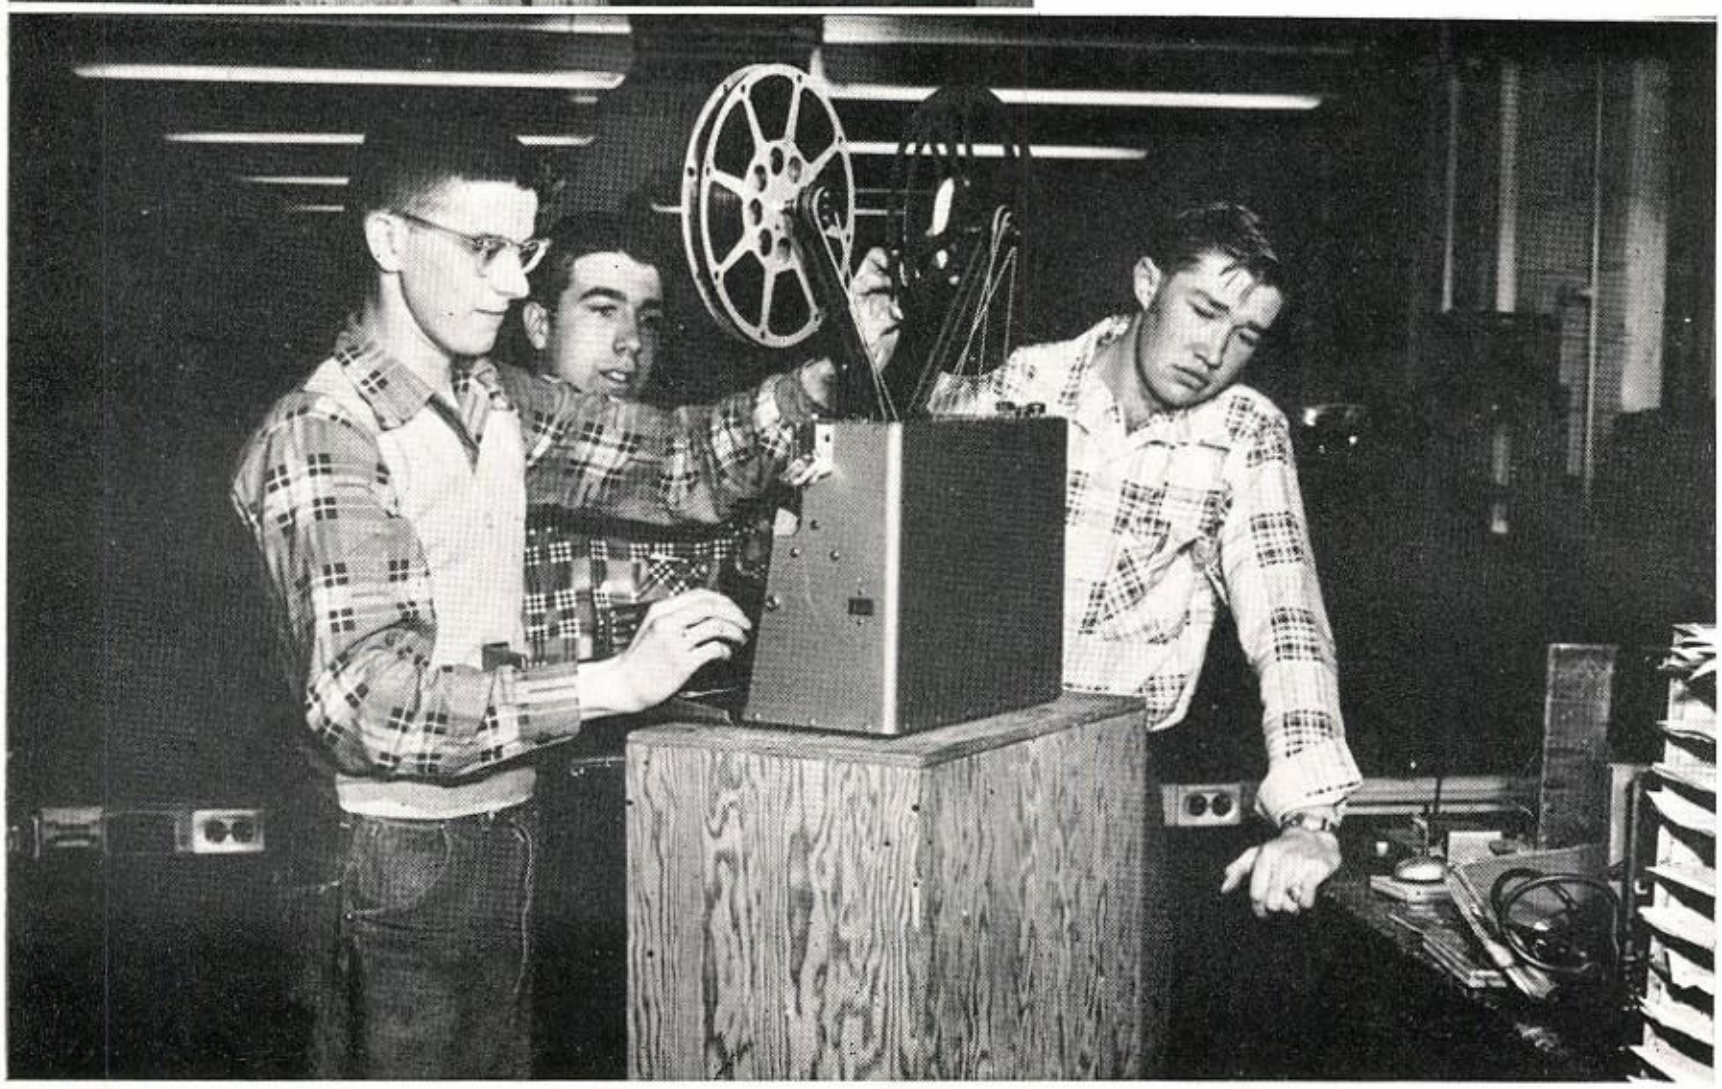
The crew learns to operate the machines, keep them in working order, and do minor repairs as part of their electric shop course. Correct splicing and care of film is an aspect of this work which takes patience and care.

The visual education program also reaches into almost every department where slides, film strips, and other pictured educational material is available for furthering instruction.

Our new addition will have a modern visual aids room which will serve as a center for this program and enlarge it's facilities, making them more easily available for the school program as a whole.

The projection crew: Frank Sternisha, who operates the machine; Don McCarthy, an expert film splicer; and Don Malinoski, who built the cabinet.

Working at the projector are Jack Cleveland, Kenneth Snyder, and Don Bengtson.



Special Interests of Faculty. . . Besides his work as head of the Industrial Arts department, Mr. Cherry has written books and done much original work in leatherwork and plastics. FRIENDS BEHIND THE SCENES

During our four years of high school, we students are fortunate to have known many of our school's friends. We appreciate the interest they display in us . . . Our bus drivers are true friends on daily trips to and from school . . . Men who worked on our new addition and remodeling are represented by part of the crew . . . The maintenance staff proves its friendship daily with uncounted favors . . Mrs. Frances Ayers . . Richard Longhini and Dominic Shulla (he got rich on the pennies some people threw) . . Joe Kucera (The Lock staff appreciates his taking charge of cokes) . . Joe Brenner and Kenneth Strong . . . The public, without whose support we would have no new addition, gathered Open House night, March 3, and for the first time saw and took pride in their contribution to us . . . Among our public are two groups who in a special way prove themselves friends behind the scenes. The Woman's Club of Lockport sends one student to art camp and one to music camp for one week each summer. The American Legion and its women's auxiliary sends a boy to Boys' State and a girl to Girls' State for a camp and citizenship experience.

Achievement in some field is the ultimate goal of every individual. To provide outlets for the interests of students, we have extra-curricular activities.

In class plays students serve school and community and gain self-confidence plus the thrill of bowing before the footlights and having their names appear on the program. Our student council, with the aid of a certain math teacher's skits, a science teacher's fiery speeches, and the hard work of its members, provides entertainment and works to organize pep and school spirit.

The Junior Red Cross helps the needy in our own and other countries and serves the school by selling programs at games.

Outstanding in service and achievement are the staffs of the Times and the Lock — those characters with the puffy eyes who've been sitting up writing all night!

To those who have received the awards given by L.T.H.S., the end of high school life seems successful indeed. Whatever the honor, we may be sure that only through hard work and unlimited effort have they attained these awards.

In this section and throughout the Lock, you will find honored those individuals and groups which have made this not only a year but an achievement.

SENIOR HONORS . .

National Honor Society

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on the scholarship, character, leadership, service, and dependability of the individual. The candidate for membership in the society must be in the upper one-third of his class scholastically and have attended the school which elects him to membership for at least two years. Fifteen per cent of the total graduating class may be chosen for membership, although it is not necessary to choose that many. Majority vote of the total faculty is required to elect a student to membership.

D.A.R. Award

Each year the faculty elects one girl, from three nominated by the senior class, to receive the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award. The selection is based on four qualities of character: dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Science Award

The Bausch and Loumb Honorary Science Award is given for highest aptitude in science. This award, founded in 1932, makes its recipient eligible to compete for a scholarship to the University of Rochester. Selection is made by the science teachers.

Activity Award

The activity award is given by the school to the senior boy and senior girl who have made the most noteworthy contribution to the school by participation in school activities. The selection is made by faculty vote.

VALEDICTORIAN AND SALUTATORIANS: Highest scholarship honors went to Marnita Hill, valedictorian; Jacqueline Cannon and Vivian Werth, salutatorians.

D.A.R. AWARD winner: Marnita Hill.

SCIENCE AWARD winner: Harvey Sowers.

ACTIVITY AWARD winners: Phyllis Winkler and Richard Gliwa.

HIGH HONORS · · ATHLETICS · ·

V. F. W. Award

From a number of suggestions made by the coaches, the Veterans of Foreign Wars select the boy who, in their opinion, is most outstanding in athletics and good sportsmanship. The 1951-52 winner was Ray Fedo; this selection was made just this spring.

Coaches Athletic Award

Our coaches each year decide upon the student who has been most outstanding in his athletic contribution to the school. He is given our High School Athletic Award.

National Athletic Scholarship Society

Those boys who have one major and two minors in sports, who have had at least above average grades in their school work for three semesters, and who are an asset to the school receive membership in the National Athletic Scholarship Society.

V.F.W. Award winner: Peter Grubisich.

Coaches' Athletic Award winner: Richard Gliwa.

JOURNALISM · · CITIZENSHIP

Quill and Scroll

The Quill and Scroll Award goes to those who have done commendable work in writing, business, or art in the publication of the Times, Lock, or any other journalistic project. Candidates for this award must be in the upper third of the class scholastically.

American Legion Award

The American Legion Award is given each year to the senior boy and to the senior girl "who best represent those qualities of character and ability which, if cultivated, are calculated to result in better citizenship". In the boy's case, the selection is based on honor, courage, scholarship, service, and leadership. It is courage, companionship, character, service, and scholarship that count for the girl.

JUNIOR PLAY

Sherwin Parker (James Benham) and Essie (Rosemary Blechschmidt) watch Mr. Reardon (Eddins McNealy) slyly sample one of Essie's doughnuts.

Lily Reardon (Marge Keca) and Warry Reardon (Jack Grassie) say good-night in the Reardon living room.

Todd Gallaway (Don Caneva) and Marcia Reardon (Carole Grant) finally get together to provide a happy ending for the play.

Mrs. Reardon (Theresa Sartori), Mr. Parker (Robert Charlton), Nana Reardon (Frances Turner), Penelope Reardon (Elaine Carrier), and Mrs. Reardon (Marjorie Mathers) discuss their respective family trees.

The entire cast proudly presents a bouquet of roses to their director, Miss Eleanor Urban, at the conclusion of the play.

Look, the curtains are about to part for the presentation of the junior play. "Every Family Has One". We, the audience, sit in quiet anticipation, seldom realizing the high excitement going on behind the curtain.

"Everybody on stage! We're on in a few minutes! Wait a minute! I can't find my hat! Who took the piano music? Donnie, where did you put my pogo stick?" Through all the practices, they never knew a time like this. On this night, however, everyone silently pulls himself together, subconsciously uttering a little prayer . . . the curtain opens . . . the play begins.

The hilarious, well-acted comedy was, from the standpoint of attendance and applause, a huge success. Under Miss Urban's fine dramatic direction, the cast and committees presented a memorable production. The cast represented a typical American family, the Reardons. Mrs. Reardon, a social climber, was very happy when her daughter became engaged to the son of a supposedly well-bred, wealthy family. The grandmother, Nana, with the help of a visiting cousin, created an expose of the Parker's relatives. The family reputation was found to be as durable as a soap bubble. The marriage was called off, and Marcia married Todd, whom she really loved.

Members of the cast were:

Penelope Reardon	Elaine Carrier
Laura Reardon	Marjorie Mathers
Mrs. James Parker (Bessie)	Theresa Sartori
Nana Reardon	Frances Turner
Essie	Rosemary Blechschmidt
Reginald Reardon	Eddins McNealy
Marcia Reardon	Carole Grant
Warry Reardon	Jack Grassie
James Parker	Robert Charlton
Sherwin Parker	James Benham
Lily Reardon	Marge Keca
Todd Galloway	Don Caneva

SENIOR PLAY

Let's eavesdrop on the excited seniors as they rehearse "June Graduate" several weeks before presentation. Everyone is preparing for April 16 and 17, the big nights. Obviously, the ends of the play are yet untied, much to Miss Urban's chagrin. Student actors realize their situation and work with added vigor; each member commences to live the personality he is playing.

The plot concerns a high school boy who becomes confused when his mother tells him she will be unable to aid him financially in college.

In a moment of panic, as a way of not losing face with the gang, he becomes engaged. He soon realizes that he could have worked to get the money, and through the aid of his friends, he solves his problems.

The following seniors made up the cast:

Bob Gardner	David Otto
Agnes Wagner	Janice Brown
Mrs. Myra Gardner	Sally Cregan
Dotty Gardner	Rosemary Juranich
Irene Davis	Jeanne Charlton
Harry Morris	Rinaldo Caneva
Laura Sawyer	Phyllis Winkler
Jane Fleming	Sue Ann Ramos
Chuck Reed	Robert Paddock
Eliot Travis	Charles Werdenhoff
Sanford Yeager	Joseph Ventura
Nora MacNamara	Virginia Zolla
Hubert	Larry Swenson
Gladys	Gay Suiter
Ethel	Joyce Angus
Anne	Loretta Genge
Isabel	Delores Jones

Bob (David Otto), very angry with his sister Dotty (Rosemary Juranich), tells his mother (Sally Cregan) to keep her out of his things. His school friend Irene (Jeanne Charlton) listens to him.

Mrs. Gardner (Sally Cregan) listens while Aunt Nora (Virginia Zolla) emphatically states that the engagement between Agnes (Janice Brown) and Bob (David Otto) must be called off.

JUNIOR PROM

Beneath soft lights and a powder blue latticework ceiling, graceful figures glided to and fro in a garden of giant flowers. The night of May 10, 1952, was a memorable, gala evening. The theme, felt everywhere, was "The Loveliest Night of the Year".

A filmy pastel frock floated in on the arm of a white dinner jacket, and was greeted by the usual slightly stiff and formal reception line. Although this is an ordeal for one who is attending his first formal dance, through experience he learns to enjoy its importance. After all, it isn't very often that you and your date, dressed and acting in accordance with the occasion, can put your best foot forward in proving you are adults.

The net frock and the dinner jacket drifted out to the floor and began to dance, a little stiff with excitement, but gradually relaxing. Now the debut was over, the dancing had begun, and everyone was lighthearted.

After several dances Roy Gordon and his orchestra took an intermission, a line formed at the punch bowl, and the merry tinkle of glasses was heard. As the dancing resumed the theme was really followed through. The king and queen, Ray Fedo and Marlene DeToffol, were crowned with great ceremony during the impressive grand march.

The dance ended and all was quiet. The decorations hung happily in the dark gym, for they knew everyone would remember them.

Marlene DeToffol and Raymond Fedo are crowned by Robert Paddock, the junior class president.

Ruth Stanley and Gordon McCluskey, Charlene Jensen and Anthony Burcenski, and Nancy Parzych and Jerome Nona show their pleasure in attending the Junior Prom.

STUDENT COUNCIL GIVES

Our Student Council, made up of one representative from each home room and the presidents of school organizations, is the student government through which students may express their problems, needs, and desires.

Though it met only about once a month, the council carried on numerous activities. By pushing the March of Dimes campaign, it helped raise our school's contribution well over last year's. Members of the council with identifying armbands also acted as guides during Open House.

A new function this year was the delivery of greeting cards and also decorating the halls for Christmas.

Under the guidance of Daymond Aiken and Leo Pryor, the council aided in pep sessions and school assemblies. These affairs were led by Jack Ernst, president, and Richard Gliwa, vice-president.

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE

Through the door of a large red heart brightly trimmed with red and white streamers, approximately 100 couples entered a land of cupids and hearts to dance to the rhythm of Billy Lester's orchestra. The occasion was the Student Council dance held on February 11 in the gymnasium of our school. The theme, "Say It with Your Heart," was carried out in the decorations — large lace-trimmed hearts, sly cupids, and colorful streamers — which were hung around the room.

The chairman of the affair was Bob Paddock. Many others including Phyllis Winkler (decorations), Loretta Genge (tickets), and members of their committees, worked hard to make the dance a great success.

Earl Greene and Ardis Fracaro push aside the red and white streamers at the entrance.

Mary Brulc and Richard Gliwa pause inside the entrance.

Beryl Strong and Mrs. Leo Pryor receive a ticket from Phyllis Winkler and Reno Caneva.

Alan Gotts, Janice Brown, Charlotte Rider, Bob Paddock are served punch by Joyce Habenicht and Vivian Werth.

THE LOCK TELLS ITS STORY

As you look at me, the 1953 Lock, you may wonder what has gone into my creation. Let me explain a little about the process of making me and the responsibilities of the people who brought me into being.

After the staff was complete, two members were chosen to work on each section or side of my personality. These two worked together to plan a rough outline of their section, deciding what pictures and written material was to go on each page. After the pictures came, it was the art member's job to figure them for reduction and mount panels, and the literary person's responsibility to see that all written material — copy, identifications, headings — were written to fit the space.

The "Lockport Lives" section was done by Andy Kozak (art) and David Otto (lit.) assisted by most of the other members of the staff. These are pictures of you, the 720 of you, each of whose personalities contributes to mine.

The "Lockport Learns" section, which pictures your favorite pastime, classes, was compiled by Bev Rapson (art) and Marilyn Cornolo (lit.).

Sally Cregan (art) and Loretta Genge (lit.) present you "Lockport Achieves" showing the lighter and sometimes the busier side of school life.

"Lockport Fights" was done by Jim Szopinski (art) and David Meadows (lit).

The cover design, the lettering on my division pages, and much other work is that of David Pesavento, art editor; Marnita Hill, literary editor, wrote copy for my division pages and worked long hours with her staff to get the best writing on each page — always with exactly the right number of words. My theme and dedication pages were planned and written by the editor, Vivian Werth.

Charlene Jensen, copy editor, with Marcella Plagenz and Lois Peake typed copy sometimes several times and helped with proof reading both before and after the pages were sent to the printer.

Besides those who brought me into being there was the business staff. Beryl Strong and Eugene Latz handled the sale of pictures and subscriptions. Bill Allison, with ample help from Jacquie Cannon and Frank Kinsella, took charge of the dances, the coke machine, and the sale of coke at games.

Jim Stephenson, Alan Gotts, and Charles Werdenhoff took photographs of school events to supplement the work of the professional photographers.

were those talented juniors, the pen wipers. Elaine Carrier and Carol Burch worked with the art staff; Don Malinoski took photographs and helped with dances; Ronald Johnson helped the literary staff; and Frank Ogren proved invaluable with the slide-rule and helped many a staff member over various sorts of rough spots.

Many staff members willingly pitched in to accomplish any task. Beryl Strong and Sally Cregan were among these versatile and willing people.

No member of the staff is better acquainted with me than our sponsor, Mrs. Mitzit. She's nursed me along for a year hoping I'd emerge with a balanced personality—complex as it is. No one realizes better than she, either, how hard and consistently the staff has worked to coordinate all their efforts into one unified being—me, the 1953 Lock.

Vivian Werth whispers a tidbit of gossip into the ear of Phyllis Winkler as David Otto (exchange) tries to listen in.

The old adage, "Time waits for no man", soon took on double meaning for the 18 aspiring journalists who made the 1952-53 Times tick. As time slipped by and the Times deadline drew nearer and nearer, we longed for just one more day for preparing our so-called masterpieces.

The work of the different staff members was varied, as each section deals with a different phase of school life. Our co-editors brought interesting facts and ideas before the student body, giving them worthwhile food for thought.

Reporting important school events was the task of our three news-editors. Their articles were designed to let students know what was going on around them at L.T.H.S.

Next we come to those lucky people whose columns were probably most anxiously read by Times readers, the gossip columnists. Somehow their columns were always loaded! (With what we won't say!) The exchange column also comes in this classification. It is made up of interesting and humorous articles taken from other school papers.

Two boys and a girl were given the job of keeping us informed on what was happening in the sports world at L.T.H.S. The boys reported scores and some sketches of games while the girl gave us inside information on G.A.A.

Advertising and circulation comprised the business side of our publication. Each month ads were solicited from local merchants to help finance the Times. Circu-

All students enrolled in the Junior Red Cross by making a contribution during the enrollment drive. The actual working members of the club included one elected representative from each home room and officers chosen the previous year.

Although the activities of this organization are not too numerous, they are very important. One of its primary activities is to pack gift boxes to be sent to undetermined destinations overseas. The boxes contain small, useful articles contributed by the students. Though we have sent these boxes for a number of years, we received some in exchange from Denmark this year for the first time. The packages contained novelty shaped soap, toys, needle work, perfume, and books.

Another project was contributed by the geometry classes who constructed flexahexagons for the veterans' hospitals. These are paper strips folded and pasted according to form, resulting in an entertaining puzzle.

The selling of programs at football and basketball games, which amounted to approximately $125 to $150, was a source of funds.

During March Lockport's Red Cross members were host to the Will County Junior Red Cross Council, which discussed Red Cross business on a county scale and presented nominees for next year's officers. The schools represented include Joliet Township High, Joliet Catholic High, St. Francis Academy, and Providence High.

FUTURE NURSES

The Future Nurses Club has for its purpose the creation of a greater interest in the nursing profession.

Mrs. Goldie Lorenzen, who organized this group, and Mrs. Anne Miller, her assistant, are the Lockport women whose enthusiastic interest in the girls and in nursing have made this club possible.

Although organized only last year, the girls this year have had a very active program with a regular meeting or activity each month. They engaged speakers for their meetings and entertained guests. At a tea held in the fall, their guests included the Joliet High School Future Nurses Club, Miss Olson, Mrs. Shire, who is on the board of directors at Silver Cross Hospital, Mr. Smith, president of Silver Cross, Miss Lorraine Mackin, and Mr. Bottino.

A visit to St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet was a highlight of the year.

RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club was organized in November by Orris S. Young and now has a membership of 14. The goal of the club is for every member to obtain his radio operating license from the Federal Communications Commission. Wayne Hamilton, the only one to receive his license thus far, has contacted a station as far away as California.

The club holds its meetings on Wednesday afternoons after school. This organization gives the boys a chance to develop their interests beyond classroom work.

CAFE HELPERS

These students spend their time fixing and serving salads, desserts, bread, and main courses for our lunches. They sell ice cream and milk, hand out silverware, and see that the students and faculty are served their well-balanced and nourishing meals in an orderly fashion.

After feeding the hungry main student body, they still must serve the famished chorus who rush in at 12:15 demanding to be fed.

"Lockport Fights!" On the opening day of school, no one realized just how important these words could be. But during the football season, our boys proved that Lockport can fight. The season ended with one of the best records in many years. The victories which they won were fine, but even more wonderful was the spirit with which they played.

Sports is more than just the winning of a game. It is playing together as a unit — as a team. It would be impossible for a player to make a touchdown without being given support by the rest of the team.

The same holds true in basketball. Everyone can't be a star. The boy who plays for the joy of the game, always working for the good of the team instead of self-glory, will be the most valuable player on the team and have more fun doing it.

Spring found boys on the baseball diamond or gasping for breath as they ran, practicing for track. There was added fun and rivalry in golf and tennis, two sports organized this year for the first time since pre-war days.

The girls had their own sports in the various activities offered by the G.A.A. — basketball, volleyball, tumbling, and golf—to mention a few.

Sports in all these forms round out the school program and train the body as well as the mind.

VARSITY FOOTBALL - 1952

New Coach Adds Pep

At the beginning of the 1952 grid season, Lockport High School supporters held their breath as they waited to see what the new athletic director and head football coach, Paul LaVinn, could do with the Varsity squad which in the past years hasn't been too successful. People soon found out that Coach LaVinn knew his business as the Lockport fans saw the Porters whip St. Charles in the season's opener.

The Lockport lads followed this victory with three others over Bradley, Morris, and Reavis, while bowing to Batavia, Joliet Catholic, and Lemont, and tieing Morgan Park Military Academy.

The Porter eleven boasted one of the heaviest lines in this part of the state, and they backed it up with a light and shifty backfield. Coach LaVinn was assisted in his coaching chores by Ed Hill.

As a season's finisher the grid squad selected fullback Rich Gliwa honorary captain.

'52 Football Review

St. Charles 13 Lockport 18 (Sept. 12)

The Porters kicked off the 1952 grid season with an 18-13 win over the St. Charles Saints. Lockport's squad showed much promise in the first game.

Batavia 12 Lockport 0 (Sept. 19)

Batavia's hard charging fullback Hal Peterson tallied 2 TD's to stop the Porters and hand them their first defeat.

Bradley 20 Lockport 27 (Sept. 26)

A see-saw battle ended with Lockport's eleven on the long end of a 27-20 score. The teams took turns scoring, but the Porters tallied last with the winning TD.

Morgan Park 7 Lockport 7 (Oct. 3)

The Lockport fans thought they would see their team gain its first victory at home when the Porters scored first but the Warriors from Morgan Park retaliated with a fourth quarter touchdown.

Morris 0 Lockport 28 (Oct. 10)

Lockport had its revenge for the 39-8 defeat at the hands of the Indians the year before. Adding insult to injury the Lockport squad scored four seven pointers and stopped Morris's star halfback behind the goal for a two point safety.

Reavis 7 Lockport 24 (Oct. 18)

On a wind swept field in Oak Lawn, the Porters met and conquered the Rams of Reavis 24-7, halfback Alex Lowery scoring three out of four touchdowns.

Joliet Catholic 13 Lockport 12 (Oct. 24)

The biggest heartbreak of the season for the Porters came in the last minute of play against Catholic High when the Hillmen snatched victory from defeat on a long pass to top Lockport 13-12.

Lemont 19 Lockport 13 (Oct. 31)

Lockport's ancient rivals, the Lemont Indians, defeated the Porters 19-13 in the last contest of the 1952 season as approximately 4000 fans watched.

FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL

A .500 season was the result of Coach Frank J. Rogers's hard work with Lockport's frosh-soph football squad; the Portermites won three and lost three contests on the gridiron in the 1952 season.

Starting the season off in the wrong column, the frosh-soph eleven dropped its first two games to St. Charles 19-6 and Batavia 7-0. Two weekends later the Portermites annexed their first win as they defeated Morgan Park 13-6. Lockport's underclassmen followed this with two more victories, over Morris 25-13 and Reavis 21-6. In the last tilt of the season, the Porter fans saw the frosh-soph fall before their ancient rivals from Joliet Catholic High 6-0.

SEASON'S CLIMAX

The final gun on a successful grid season was the Porters annual football banquet, served by the women of the First Congregational Church.

After the invocation by the Reverend F. Rausch, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, a turkey dinner was served to the members of two football squads and their guests, an estimated 200 people.

When the boys had cleared the field of all food, Mr. L. Pryor, toastmaster, introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Jim "Red" McCarthy, coach at Lewis College and former L.T.H.S. grid star, who talked to the boys about success in sports and school.

Entertainment was provided musically by Rich Gliwa and Dale Vercellotti on their accordions, and visually by Jim Stephenson, Sr., who showed movies of the games.

At the football banquet, Coach Paul LaVinn presented Varsity letters to R. Allen, W. Allison, L. Butler, R. Cronholm, W. Eaton, R. Gliwa, T. Haller, J. Homerding, C. Johnson, R. Johnson, D. Llewellyn, A. Lowery, R. Mondrella, R. Murray, J. Nikiel, F. Ogren, V. Pearson, R. Pluth, D. Salbego, R. Sartori, H. Shafer, A. Stone, W. Stone, D. Vercellotti, and J. Ventura.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Our athletic director and varsity coach, Paul LaVinn, although new to the school, worked tirelessly to build a team around six men returning from the previous year's squad. Even though the team's record wasn't impressive, toward the end of the season the lads started to work as a team, reaching the high point in their 65-41 defeat of Calumet City. For the second year in a row, the Porters were handicapped in having most of the height concentrated in a few players.

FROSH-SOPH BASKETBALL

The Portermites, under the able direction of Coach Frank J. Rogers, showed a well balanced team as they racked up a season's slate of 13 wins and seven losses. Most of the squad's setbacks were by only two or three points.

A flashy team, the frosh-soph combined tricky and fast guards with a sharpshooting forward wall and good rebounding as they outclassed most of their opponents.

Letters were awarded to: T. Broderick, T. Haller, K. Wilson, W. Johnson, J. Riley, J. Grant, G. Shulla, R. Kiss, B. Grossklaus, G. Rutkiewicz, J. Miller. A. Gill, W. Jensen, J. Djerf.

Co-captains were T. Broderick and T. Haller.

FRESHMAN AND JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Athletic Director Paul LaVinn began an all round basketball program as he formed the second freshman cage squad in Lockport's history and also started the junior varsity squad.

With four different teams in action at L.T.H.S., more boys received training in sportsmanship and the fundamentals of basketball.

The freshmen had a respectable record of 2 wins and 2 loses. The junior varsity won all three of its games.

GOLF AND TENNIS...

The newly revived golf and tennis squads under the direction of Coach Ed Hill have drawn the interest of many people at L.T.H.S.

Not since 1942 have the Porters had official golf or tennis teams, although unscheduled matches have been played. The golf team has drawn about 16 boys while 12 tennis enthusiasts have been practicing on the courts.

. . . TRACK

The call for track volunteers was answered by 28 ambitious young men, both varsity and frosh-soph. Frank Rogers, in his new position as track mentor, started preparing early in the spring for a stiff schedule.

Lockport's thinclads faced four triangle meets, the district and state meets, and the varsity and frosh-soph conference meets at the end of the season.

LIFE SAVING—WATER SAFETY

Knowledge and skill in lifesaving were acquired by a group of girls under Mrs. Betty Rose, and boys under Edward Flink. The aims of this course were to improve skill in the most common strokes, to teach rescue of a drowning person and first aid for one rescued from the water, all of which help make water safer for everyone who swims.

The work totaled 15 hours of practice and two hours testing. Red Cross awards were presented to all who earned them.

G. A. A. DEVELOPS LEADERS

Each season of the year is filled with fun and sport for active members of the G.A.A. This organization promotes interest in athletics and teaches each of its members the ideals of sportsmanship and healthful living.

Officers for the entire G.A.A. and for the individual groups, such as riding and bowling clubs, are elected and are responsible for coordinating the activities of whole membership and of the specific activities.

In the fall and spring the girls ride and play golf. Bowling, tumbling, volleyball, basketball, and basket shooting are carried on indoors throughout the school term.

The State Telegraphic Bowling Tournament, the District Basket Shooting Tournament, and inter-class competitions encourage friendly rivalry.

Officers and sponsor of G.A.A.: B. Strong (president), D. Fracaro (vice-president), L. Grant (secretary), J. Day (treasurer), and Miss Eva Olson (sponsor).

Discussing the difference between irons and woods: D. Wozniak, M. Cornolo, and B. Bromberek.

OFFERS VARIETY OF SPORTS

New members are initiated into the Girls' Athletic Association each spring during a solemn ceremony after each has earned at least 50 activity points. Each girl participates in her favorite sport, earning five points for each hour of participation. One hundred health points may be earned by having a complete physical examination by a doctor.

The first local award is given when the girl has earned a total of 500 activity and 100 health points. This award is a small maroon and white "L". The second local award is gained with a total of 1000 activity and 200 health points; this is a larger "L" with the letters G.A.A. across the base.

The first state award is given when 1,300 activity and 300 health points have been obtained. This award is a blue "I" with the letters G.A.A. in white. Sixteen hundred activity points earn the highest available emblem, the second state award. It is in the shape of our state with the letters G.A.A. on a field of blue and white.

Each year the awards are presented at a Mother and Daughter Tea, which is planned, prepared, and served by the girls. At this tea the girls have a chance to acquaint their mothers with the G.A.A. activities and demonstrate the skills they have acquired in the various sports during the year.

WE WISH TO THANK . .

- Teachers who cooperated splendidly in the planning and taking of pictures and students who probably thank us, too.
- Katherine Clapper who handled photos for seniors and Bob Paddock who organized the first Lock staff dances, before they had to resign from the staff.
- Students whose contour drawings, done as regular work in art classes, form our sub-title (by S. Herr, M. J. Berta, J. Blogg, V. Zolla), division-page (by V. Zolla, S. Cregan, L. Shoemaker, and S. Herr), and prophecy illustrations (by M. J. Berta, T. Cannon, J. Alexander, S. Herr, R. Basham), and Sammy Herr for air brush work on all montage pages.
- Non-staff students who supplied photos: David Bell, Virginia Zolla, and Louise Balstrode (class of '52).
- The Spectator for the print of the "Help the Handicapped" poster contest winners, page 56.
- The Herald News for the print of Eddins McNealy as Lincoln, page 9.
- Our photographer, Jim Stephenson, Sr., who, as an alumnus, parent, and former faculty member and Lock sponsor, has more than a professional interest in the production of this book.
- Robert Sommer, of Jahn & Ollier, who helped in many ways to smooth our path to the engraver's and printer's.
